

Lucy G. Moses Preservation Awards

The New York Landmarks Conservancy

invites you to the presentation of the

Lucy G. Moses Preservation Awards

Preservation Leadership Award

Ruth Pierpont, former Director, New York State Historic Preservation Office

Preservation Public Leadership Awards

The Honorable Gale Brewer, Manhattan Borough President

The Honorable Daniel Garodnick, New York City Council Member, 4th District

Preservation Organization

The Episcopal Diocese of New York Property Support Program

Project Awards

5 Beekman Hotel and Residences

Cartier Fifth Avenue Mansion

Lenox Health Greenwich Village

Met Breuer

Montauk Club

The New York Public Library: Rose Reading Room & Bill Blass Catalog Room and Gottesman Hall

Park Avenue Armory

Randolph Houses Phase I

Residences at PS 186

St. Thomas Church and Parish House

South Street Seaport Museum's Wavertree

Ziehl/Starr Residence

Thursday, May 11, 2017

6:00 pm Check-in / 6:30 pm Awards Program / 7:30 pm Reception

The New York Public Library - Stephen A. Schwarzman Building

Fifth Avenue and 42nd Street, Manhattan - please enter at the 42nd Street entrance

RSVP by May 5

Questions: Jenna Smith at 212.995.5260 or jennasmith@nylandmarks.org

The Lucy G. Moses Preservation Awards are the New York Landmarks Conservancy's highest honors for outstanding preservation. The Conservancy has been a leader in preserving, restoring, and reusing New York City's wonderful architectural legacy for over four decades.

Since 1991, the Moses Awards have recognized individuals, organizations, architects, craftspeople and building owners for their extraordinary contributions to preserving our City. We are grateful for the generous support of the Henry and Lucy Moses Fund, which makes the Awards possible.

Lucy Goldschmidt Moses was a dedicated New Yorker whose generosity benefited the City for over 50 years. Mrs. Moses and her husband, attorney Henry L. Moses, shared a wide range of philanthropic interests. "I don't think we're worth anything unless we do for others," said Mrs. Moses in a 1983 interview with The New York Times.

Hailed as a national model, the Conservancy has loaned and granted more than $40 million and provided countless hours of pro bono technical advice to building owners. Our work has saved some 2,000 buildings across the City and State, preserving the character of New York for future generations.

Photo credits: 5 Beekman Hotel and Residences by Richard Barnes; Cartier Fifth Avenue Mansion by John Bartlestone; Lenox Health Greenwich Village by Chris Cooper courtesy of Perkins Eastman; Montauk Club by © 2016 j.m.kucy | jmk-gallery.com; Met Breuer by Peter Aaron/OTTO; New York Public Library Rose Reading Room by Max Touhey; Park Avenue Armory Veterans' Room by James Ewing; St. Thomas Church and Parish House by Walter B. Melvin Architects; Randolph Houses Phase I by Bernstein Associates, Photographers; Residences at PS 186 by David Sundberg/ESTO courtesy of Dattner Architects; Wavertree by Paul Margolis/South Street Seaport Museum; and Ziehl/Starr Residence by RAND Engineering & Architecture, DPC. Any additional images courtesy of project architects.

Before
Restoration

- 1 - Lenox Health Greenwich Village, New York Public Library - Rose Reading Room, Montauk Club
- 2 - 5 Beekman Hotel and Residences, Residences at PS 186, South Street Seaport Museum's Wavertree
- 3 - Randolph Houses Phase I, Cartier Fifth Avenue Mansion, Ziehl/Starr Residence
- 4 - Met Breuer, St. Thomas Church and Parish House, Park Avenue Armory

